

Industrial Caster Wheel Manufacturer, Caster Concepts, Offers Comprehensive Resources

Caster Concepts is a caster wheel manufacturer based in Albion, Michigan that offers up a variety of useful resources designed to help business owners and product developers make the best decisions for their companies. Caster Concepts features a variety of blogs, videos, white papers, technical documents, and photographs on their website.

Caster wheels play an integral part in many different industries as they allow everything from refrigerators to robots to carts to roll freely. Not only can the average consumer find a variety of casters around the house, but these wheels are also important in industrial settings. Caster Concepts is one of the few companies in the nation that can custom-engineer, design, and fabricate caster wheels for unique applications, as well.

Thanks to the resources offered by Caster Concepts, it becomes easier to make decisions about the types of wheels to use for any application. They offer videos to help individuals familiarize themselves with the methods used to design, develop, and manufacture the wheels. They explain the differences between different types of wheels, and they even provide new videos describing some of their latest innovations from time to time. Their website also provides an excellent directory of white papers and technical documents that delve into the different ways to manufacture casters, which is perfect for engineers and product developers make better choices.

Finally, Caster Concepts provides access to the latest news in the caster wheel industry, and they even offer newsletters that can keep viewers in the know regarding new concepts and innovations. The abundance of photos on the website give viewers the opportunity to compare and contrast not only the wheels themselves, but also the parts used to construct them. Caster Concepts is the country's premiere provider of caster wheels and product information geared toward everyone and every setting.

About the Company: Caster Concepts, founded by Richard H. Dobbins, is the leader in industrial caster solutions, and the company boasts a solid reputation for reliability and honesty. They offer everything from custom machining to wheels, casters, and fabrication. The company also plays a vital role in the Albion, Michigan community with employee volunteering, the Manufacturing Education Fund, and internship experiences for students attending the Carl A. Gertstacker Institute for Business and Management, the University of Michigan, Northern Michigan University, and Kettering University.